You have the right to request a hearing. If a temporary restraining order has been issued, you have 45 days from the date of order to file a Request for Hearing with the court. You will be required to pay a civil filing fee unless you qualify as low income. You may complete and file an IFP form that would be reviewed by a judge who would determine whether to waive your filing fee. IFP forms are available from the court administrator. The court will notify the parties with a date and time to appear for a hearing.

You will be held in jail for at least 36 hours, excluding the day of arrest, Sundays, and legal holidays, unless you are released earlier by a judge or judicial officer. Violation of the restraining order also constitutes contempt of court.
